THE OREGON ELECTION.

An election will be held in Oregon, June 4th, for State and county officers, two Congressmen and members of the Legislature. There are three tickets in the field, the Republican, Democratic and Populist. In 1892 there were 78,401 votes polled in the State. Of these Harrison received 35,002; Cleveland, 14,243 and Weaver 29,955. One Weaver elector, who was endorsed by the Democrats, was elected, and the Republicans elected the other three by a plurality of 8,037. This year the Republicans and Democrats have fused in some of the most populous counties in the State, but there has been no fusion, so far, on the State ticket.

The Legislature to be chosen on the first Monday in June will elect a United States Senator to succeed Joseph N. Dolph, whose term will expire on March 3, 1895. Mr. Dolph has heretofore been supported by every railroad and navigation company in Oregon, and, doubtless, they will render him all the assistance in their power at the ensuing election. He is one of the most pronounced anti-silver men in the Senate from the States west of the Mississippi, and his re-election, though it may be secured through corporate influence, will be regarded East as evidence that all the Pacific States are not in favor of free coinage.

The success of the Populist ticket in Oregon is not probable in consequence of the opposition of the corporations, which are numerous and powerful in the State. It is stated, however, that the people, especially in the agricultural counties, have abandoned the old parties, and that the defections in the rural districts will offset corporate influence in the railroad and river towns.

It is probable that Senators Stewart and Allen and Congressman Pence of Colorado will make several speeches in the State before election.

A NEW PARTY VINDICATED.

When the Republican party was organized the Whigs and Democrats ridiculed the movement, as the Republicans and Democrats do the Third party to-day. Every advocate of the new party was denounced as an agitator or fanatic, as the men who uphold free coinage principles are to-day. In defending the new party movement Charles Sumner used the following language which is as applicable to-day as it was forty years ago:

"We are led to this course by conviction of its necessity in the maintenance of our great cause. It is our duty to cast our votes on all occasions as to promote the principles we have at heart. And it would be wrong to disregard the experience of political history, both at home and abroad, which teaches that it is through the constant, well directed organization of party that these are best maintained. The influence already exerted over both the old parties and over the general sentiment of the country affords additional encouragement. Assuming, then, what few will be so hardy as to deny, that it is proper for people to combine in parties for the promotion of cherished convictions, it follows, as an irresistible consequence, that this combination should be made most effective for the purpose in view. What is worth doing is worth well doing. If men unite in constructing the powerful and complex machine of a political organization, it must be rendered complete and thoroughly competent for its work."

HAWAIIAN AFFAIRS.

An election for delegates to a Constitutional Convention was held in the Hawaiian Islands on May 2. The registration of voters for the election closed on April 21st. In Honolulu 1,607 voters registered, and the total number registered in the islands was estimated at 3,000. The registered voters in Honolulu are classed as follows: Native and half-breed, 185; Hawaiian born, of foreign parentage, 101; American, 390; English, 195; German, 120; Portuguese, 418; all others, 98, making a total of 1,607.

As all who registered were required to take the oath of allegiance to the Provisional Government, the natives were afraid to register as they had been advised that the Queen would be restored and she would wreak vengeance on all who swore allegiance to the present government. A large number of Americans did not register fearing that by doing so they would lose their American citizenship.

The very few natives who registered indicates that the Provisional Government must rely upon foreigners for support or else convince the natives that monarchy is a thing of the past, never to be revived, in the Hawaiian Islands.

The proposition of the woolen manufacturers of the United States to let the schedule on woolen goods remain as it now is until January 1, 1895, and then reduce the tariff ten per cent, to be followed by an annual reduction of ten per cent, until absolutely free conditions are obtained, ought to be acceptable to Congress. It will give all engaged in the business opportunity to get out of it without serious loss if they cannot compete with foreign manufacturers.

Gen. Frye and his army of 200 fled out of Indianapolis yesterday on the way to Washington. He will try and pay the expenses of his journey selling his book.

TERRIFIC TORNADES.

Great Damage by Storms.

CHICAGO, May 7.—Dispatches from various parts of the country report great destruction by cyclones. At Fairbury, Illinois, great trees and weak structures were leveled to the ground. Signs in the business part of town were torn loose and hurled through the glass windows. The roof of Capman's agricultural warehouse was blown off and some stock injured. Great damage was done in the vicinity of Aurora.

Maine Station, near Albion, Iowa, was visited by a cyclone and heavy hail, which caused much damage. One woman was so badly injured that she died this afternoon. Over a dozen houses were blown down, and much damage done to fruit and small grain. In the vicinity of Caro, Illinois, the wind assumed the proportions of a small cyclone, tearing roofs from houses and extensively damaging others. At Sheffield the rains caused the roofs of the entrances of many mines to cave in, closing the mines and stopping work temporarily.

CADET ENCAMPMENT.

The University Students Enjoying Their Outing.

The University cadets are having a glorious time encamped on the University heights, or, in scholarly parlance, on that portion of the college campus known as the "ram pasture." The boys occupy about forty tents, one of which, being the guard house, is usually occupied by its full quota of law breakers. A sentry paces grimly up and down in front of it night and day and renders escape impossible.

About 2 o'clock yesterday morning six high privates were discovered in dishabille costume outside the picket lines. A corporal's guard was immediately detailed to arrest and bring them in, which was accomplished without bloodshed, although several volleys of musketry were discharged at them. They were at once taken to the guard house and locked up to repent at leisure their rash step. In all probability they will be court-martialed and ordered to pack sand.

Frequent musket shots in the dead of night startle the residents of the northern part of town and denote that some vigilant picket has seen the evening. The boys enjoy it, and the outdoor exercise is a splendid diversion from the long months of confinement in the school room, bracing the students up so that they are able, with less tax upon the system, to complete the last and hardest month of the year, that before commencement.

ABOUT A WOOLEN MILL.

An Inquiry From the State of Illinois. Chairman Alt of the Board of County Commissioners has received the following:

IPAVA, Ills., April 30, 1894. George Alt, Reno, Nevada.—DEAR SIR: I have been informed that the people of Reno are talking of getting a woolen mill for their city. We are located here at Ipava, Ills., and have been in the past twenty-four years. Have been in the woolen mill business for thirty-two years and am acquainted with all branches of the trade. We run all the year and employ 30 to 35 hands, and make blankets. What assistance will your city be willing to give for a woolen mill or to have us move our mill to your place? Would we have to run by steam or water power? Any information you can give us will be gladly received. Yours truly,

C. F. FOOTE.

The Prize Winner.

The German flavor of The Prize Winner presented at the Opera House last evening with Charles A. Gardner in the title role, was an agreeable innovation from the plays which ordinarily appear here. There was enough plot to the drama to hold the attention of the audience while several of the situations were not only strong but for the most part new. The acting altogether was good, while the singing was excellent. The Tyrolean drinking scene in the Turner's hall was very fine. The singers were frequently encored and responded graciously. Mr. Gardner is a pleasant actor of the Scanlan type and sings well.

Died at the Reservation.

The little daughter of Major Wootton, the newly appointed Indian Agent, died at the Pyramid reservation Wednesday night and was buried the following day. The cause of her death is said to have been diphtheria. Another child and Mrs. Wootton herself are reported very sick.

Trinity Church Rector.

The trustees of Trinity Church have called the Rev. Samuel Unsworth of Ogden, Utah, to be the rector of this parish. A letter was received from him yesterday announcing that he had accepted. Mr. Unsworth is said to be a learned scholar and an eloquent preacher.

Seth Taylor Rapidly Improving.

Seth Taylor, who was shot by foot-pads about six weeks ago, by which his thigh bone was broken, sat up yesterday in a chair for the first time. He is getting along nicely and will be glad to see any of his friends who may call.

Jake Rudolph, a well known San Francisco politician, attempted to kill Joseph B. Elliot of the San Francisco Chronicle in that city, but the bullet struck some loose coin in the latter's pocket and saved his life. Rudolph said he wanted to shoot Mike de Young. The cause of the shooting is unknown. He was arrested and lodged in jail.

Tracey and Harter of the Committee, however, objected to proxy voting and the bill is at a standstill in the Committee.

A Washington special to the Providence News says that the Senate Committee on the wool tariff have reached an agreement with the woolen manufacturers of the East allowing the McKinley tariff on wool to remain in force until January 1, 1895, then a reduction of 10 per cent per annum until a free trade condition is reached.

Senator Teller yesterday presented a report of the Committee on Civilized Tribes of Indians. The population of Indian Territory is given at 50,055 Indians, and about 300,000 whites. The expense of maintaining a Federal court and prosecuting crime in the Territory is about one-seventh the judicial expenditure of the United States.

McGan, Chairman of the House Committee on Labor, has framed a terse, joint resolution proposing the appointment of the two houses to inquire into the cause of the present depression in trade and idleness of labor, to report within thirty days. The resolution is to make inquiry on the broad lines of the effects of the tariff, the uncertainty of silver legislation, all to be considered without reference to the politics involved.

NASH.—In Verdi, Nev., May 6, 1894, Fredrick Nash, a native of England, aged 78 years.

A Bright Lad,

Ten years of age, but who declines to give his name to the public, makes this authorized, confidential statement to us: "When I was one year old, my mamma died of consumption. The doctor said that I, too, would soon die, and all our neighbors thought even I did not die. I would never be able to walk, because I was so weak and puny. A gathering formed and broke under my arms, but my legs and it gathered and threw out pieces of bone. If I had not my Sarsaparilla, it was sure to become a running sore. I had to take lots of medicine, but nothing has done me so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has made me well and strong." T. D. M., Norcutt, Kans.

RENO PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Report and Honor Rolls for the Month of April, 1894.

To the Board of Education: Gentlemen—I herewith respectfully submit my report of the public schools of Reno for the month ending April 20, 1894.

A number of large pupils in the Grammar grade have, as is the custom at this season of the year, withdrawn to aid their parents in garden and farm work, thus lessening the total attendance, but not relieving the lower rooms, in which the principal pressure exists. Notwithstanding the number withdrawn for the above reason, there were 551 enrolled last month, as against 493 in the corresponding month of last year.

If the standard of work in the lower grades is to be maintained and improved upon, as ought to be the case from year to year, we shall need more school room next September.

TACTICS OF THE INTERNATIONAL BONDHOLDERS.

The United States Should Adopt a National Monetary System.

The international bondholders have at last made the discovery that there is not gold enough in the world to pay the interest on their bonds, and something has to be done. They do not care to foreclose and take possession of the earth, for that would require personal attention and foreclosure expenses. They prefer to remain in their palaces and clip interest coupons; hence they have called an international conference to so arrange the finances of the world that the people can pay the interest on the national debts. These international bondholders regard their bonds as being too sacred to be trifled with and the interest must be promptly paid. These thrifty international bondholders now hold nearly $300,000,000 of national bonds. They have so arranged matters that these obligations are payable in gold. As there is less than one-seventh of that amount of gold in the world, it can be readily seen under what great obligations the people are to these patriots.

These unselfish international bondholders will go into history as the most self-sacrificing, public-spirited benefactors of the nineteenth century. They are even willing to furnish props to enable the people to deliver this debt, with interest, to the next generation. It seems too bad to think that the Populists should oppose the wishes of the bondholders. If the people should adopt the financial policy advocated by the Populists, they would not only be able to pay the interest on their obligations, but they would eventually be able to extinguish the debt itself. This, of course, would be very unsatisfactory to the bondholding aristocracy. When the bondholders superseded the slaveholders they expected their calling to be permanent, and felt that future generations would continue to be mortgaged to their descendants, but the Populists are upsetting their plans by advocating a national financial policy which will be entirely independent of the international bondholders.

FARMER.

YO TAMBEN VICTORIOUS.

She Wins the Inaugural Handicap at St. Louis.

At the Spring meeting at the St. Louis fair grounds about 5,000 people assembled to witness the great inaugural handicap, with $2,500 to the winner. The track was frightfully muddy and only six horses of the long list of entries went to the post. Yo Tambien, the great daughter of Joe Hooker, was the favorite at odds of 7 to 10 and she won the race easily.

Yo Tambien was raised by Theodore Winters and the people of this county and State take an interest in the mare, and are pleased with her success.

One hundred cords of wood were purchased from W. O. H. Martin at $4 35 per cord, the same to be delivered in the back yard of the Court house by June 1, 1894.

J. E. Shannon presented a bid before the Board offering to board the prisoners of the county, giving them three meals each a day, at forty cents per prisoner. The prisoners are now being boarded at the Riverside Hotel at fifty cents per prisoner. The matter of letting the contract was left in the hands of Chairman Alt.

T. J. Cummings was authorized to expend not to exceed $100 on the Forty Nine Canyon road.

After allowing the several bills against the county, a list of which will be found in another column, the Board adjourned.
